COURT ASKED TO UNTANGLE MATRIMONIAL DIFFICULTIES.

Men Appear to Secure Separation From Wives They Charge With Various Offenses.

CHASES HUSBAND WITH RAZOR.

Life of One Made Burdensome by Wife's Actions and Another is Deserted Soon After Marriage—Magistrate Performs Ceremony

UNIONTOWN, June 29.—Through his attorney George Patterson, Riley Christopher, this morning fled a home in divorce against his wife, Daisy Christopher, charging her with serious misconduct and asking that he be granted a legal separation. The husband charges his wife with adulterous practices with a number of men, but names James Miller as correspondent. The couple was married in Cumberland, Md., February 2, 1895, since which time they have been living at Death and Oliver. He says that she has made his life burdensome and dangerous. Recently at Uniontown she was committed to jail by Squire John Boyle on a charge of assault and battery.

Christopher sets forth that one of the woman's bad practices is the getting up at 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning and meeting other men. He also says she has the nasty habit of getting after him with a razor when she goes on one of her tantrums. His life, he says, is endangered by her and has become burdensome on account of her conduct.

Another dissatisfied couple is Stephen Stewart and Ada Stewart, and a bill in divorce was this morning filed in their case by Attorney R. P. Kennedy. The husband sets forth that they were married June 8, 1906, and that they lived in Redstone township until February 10, 1906, when his wife deserted him and has since been living at Tover Hill.

Another matrimonial tangle that has not reached the divorce court is that of Mike Moulde and Hazel Pastory. Hazel had Mike arrested a few days ago on a paternity charge. He was locked up and was to be given a hearing this morning by Square Boyle, and the trouble was discussed. It was learned that both wanted to get married, but Hazel insisted upon having a priest perform the ceremony while Mike wanted a preacher. They had fussed and quarreled over the matter before and couldn't come to an understanding. Both of them, however, morning compromised upon a square and Magistrate John Boyle performed the ceremony after which the man was released and both of them went away happy.

SINGER FALLS DEAD IN MIDST OF SOLO.

Miss Axton Expires in Jeannette Baptist Church and Companion Finishes Song

JEANNETTE, Pa., June 29.—Virtus Us With Thy Salvation, Ever Trembling Heart! As the words left her lips as she was singing a solo part at the First Baptist church last evening, Miss Irene Axton, contralto in the quartet, suddenly fell forward dead. Miss Edith Wright, soprano who was singing a duet with Miss Axton controlled herself with an effort, and after a pause, took up her solo part to which she was more than ever happy.

Lancaster pleaded not guilty to the charge preferred against him and had a number of witnesses to give testimony but these were not heard. An attempt was made to settle the case in some amicable manner but this Lancaster refused and gave bail in the sum of $500 for his appearance before the Grand Jury.

Former Somerset Resident Dead

Mrs. Mary Lenhart, aged 85 years, widow of the late William Lenhart, a pioneer resident of Somerset county, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Nevin, Third street, Bradford. Mrs. Lenhart was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church for 72 years. She was born in Zanesville, O., in 1826. The following chill day survived Mrs. William Nevin, Mrs. Kato Ratfield and Mrs. Daniel Smith of Bradford. Mrs. Mary Jane Albin of Addison, Pa., and Mrs. H. C. Crow of Confluence, Forty grand children, 62 great grandchildren and three great great grandchildren also survive. Funeral services will be held this afternoon from the Nevin's home. Rev. C. L. E. Cartwright pastor of the First Methodist church of Bradford, will officiate. Interment in the Bradford cemetery, North Bradford.

The duet by Miss Axton and Miss Wright immediately preceded the sermon of the Rev. A. B. Conrad, the pastor. An awed hush fell upon the congregation when Rev. Conrad resumed the service and prefaced his sermon with a reference to the manner in which death had entered. Miss Axton, who was 19 years old, had suffered slight attacks of heart trouble. She was graduated from the Jeannette High School in the class of 1907 and last winter taught in the public school of Penn township. Besides her mother, Miss Mamie Axton, she leaves a sister and a brother.

Uniontown Church Dedicated

UNIONTOWN, June 29.—The new Methodist church in Mt. Vernon avenue was dedicated yesterday with impressive services. Rev. Theo. N. Boyle, D. D., assisted by Rev. William P. Turner, D. D., conducted the services. A number of other ministers were present at the exercises.

AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE

Machines Running at High Rate Crash Together at Uniontown.

UNIONTOWN, June 29.—George T. Tallow driving a Packard automobile and Waid Bundy, driving a Royal tourist car, collided head-on at South Gallatin avenue and Church street on Saturday afternoon, and although both cars were filled with people no one was injured. Both cars were badly damaged.

Mr. Bundy was driving Mr. and Mrs. Bruce L. Stelling and son S. D. Stelling to the mountains, while in Mr. Tallow's car was himself and three children, wife Earl Phillips, George Fleckman, George Leonard, George Kartz and Orville Frank. Both cars were being run at a good speed when they collided and it is considered marvelous that so many out in the two parties was not seriously injured.

There has been an exodus of late of men who have posed as doctors and cure-all. Their departure was not anticipated even by themselves but a short time before it was executed.

PERSONAL TALK LEADS TO ARREST.

Woman Shows Magistrate Injury on Arm But Others Remain Hidden Official Not from Missouri.

A pleasant conversation that started at Dunbar and wound up in an assault and battery case had its sequel in Magistrate W. P. Clark's office Saturday afternoon when Clyde Lancaster was the defendant in a case brought against him by Mrs. Eddie Logan. The Lancasters and the Logans were neighbors living close together and it was not unusual for the women of each family to run over the way and talk things over.

Last Wednesday Mrs. Logan took a run over to the Lancaster house and there was some pleasant bantering between the families. Things began to go bad when the real personal attack took wing and the morality of the families came into question.

Mrs. Logan was ordered from the house and she supposed she didn't have to go until she was good and ready. At this juncture Husband

Lancaster interfered and told her that she must go forthwith if not sooner. He grabbed her by the arm and not too gently either. Then he forced her toward the door, says Mrs. Logan, and when he jammed her up against it, he gave her several kicks, one on the lower limb and the other on the arm. She exhibited the arm to Magistrate Clark but he evidently was not from Missouri and did not ask for any more evidence. Mrs. Logan further alleged that she and indecent names were used, and when she went out of the door Lancaster followed her to the gate and was furious at her. He left her panting figure with oaths that if she ever came back he would make it hotter than ever for her.

Lancaster pleaded not guilty to the charge preferred against him and had a number of witnesses to give testimony but these were not heard. An attempt was made to settle the case in some amicable manner but this Lancaster refused and gave bail in the sum of $500 for his appearance before the Grand Jury.

HORSE FRIGHTENED BY FIRE RUNS DOWN TOT.

Animal Midden by Blaze Causes Down Street Injuring Child When Old House Burns

MIERSDAL, June 29.—The old house belonging to the Williamson & Ohio Railroad Company located at West Miersdal, together with its contents was to day destroyed by fire shortly after noon yesterday. The department responded promptly but their efforts were of no avail. The origin of the fire is unknown.

During the progress of the fire the two year old child of John S. Sawyer was run over by the horse that had come frightened by the noise and excitement surrounding, besides a break in leg an ugly gash on his head and severe burns and contusions on various parts of his body.

ODD CHARACTER DIES

Gave Up Priesthood for Life as Itinerant Bookseller

GRINNSPIRG, June 29.—Vincent Post Jr., a man known throughout Western Pennsylvania and Dick in Ohio as eccentric book binder is dead here aged 45 years.

He was descended from an Italian family that located in Basilia 300 years ago and was destined for the priesthood after serving an apprenticeship with his father in a blindfold life of seclusion. He did not appeal to Postel and he came to America finding in New York about 10 years ago. He carried a lot of binders' tools and money traps throughout the country doing small jobs. For 20 years he had worked in Greenburg.

A brother of Postel came to America several years ago and tried to persuade Vincent to accompany him back to the old country. Vincent despite the fact that he was almost a pauper refused to leave.

Run Down Man Who Committed Criminal Assault Upon Child Near Uniontown Last Month

WHITFIELD, June 29.—Alex Towns, alias Castle, was arrested Sunday morning at Uniontown Farm by reliable Milton Morris and Judson Sibley of Uniontown, Pa., on a charge of criminal assault. Castle, 21, was taken into custody on 12-year-old Laura Clark of that city on May 21. He was taken before Justice Hobbs, who ordered him committed to jail where he is being held in default of $2,000 bond.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad station was also broken into. So far as is known the agent cannot account for any missing money or tickets but a large number of trunks that were stored in the baggage rooms were broken open and traps and clothing rifled. No one called for their trunks today and it cannot be ascertained how much money was taken from them. It is believed however that clothing and other articles were taken from the trunk.

The county fair is to be held Saturday evening and the officials are to be on the lookout for the stolen horses.

"Boost the Booster!"

That's the official slogan of a certain town in Arkansas which through boosting itself and boosting its boosters has doubled its population since the 1900 census.

BOOST THE BOOSTER!

The Arkansas town had been quarreling among itself for years, and standing still. It had boosters, but it had others who refused to boost the boosters, refused to stand by them and yell,

"Good boy—keep it up!"

BOOST THE BOOSTER!

Finally the town got together with itself, organized a "Boost the Booster Club" and began to boom. Now its principal thoroughfare, which was a streak of mud, is a stretch of asphalt, and it has new buildings to match. Now everybody boosts the booster and booms the boom.

BOOST THE BOOSTER!

This town might take a hint from that one. We have our town boosters—every town has some. But sometimes they get discouraged because of opposition right here in our midst.

BOOST THE BOOSTER!

Cut out the criticism! Quit the queering! Boom the Boom!

Then watch the old town perk up and plunge forward. You can see it move.

AUTOMOBILE UPSETS.

Merry Party Returning From Outing Meet With Terrible Accident.

ONE VICTIM DEAD, OTHERS DYING

Protestants Citizens of Warren, Pa., Figures in Distressing Accident—Machine Runs into Ruts at High Speed and Is Upset.

Warren, Pa., June 29.—As the result of an automobile accident here one person is dead and two are fatally injured.

The dead—Eric Anderson, age 45, married foreman of the erecting department of the Jacobson Machine company.

Probably fatally hurt—Mrs. Eric Anderson, age 42, R. M. Knabb, skull fractured, jaw broken, cuts and bruises about head, and perhaps internal injuries.

A party of five composed of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Knabb and infant daughter, Lizzie, age two, Elizabeth Winger, age five, and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Anderson, had been out for a country trip. They were returning and when near the Outing club, 2½ miles from this city, the accident happened. They were traveling at a speed of about 45 miles an hour and in turning out of the road to avoid two buggies the front wheel of the auto ran into a small gutter and the machine upset.

The wife and child and Mrs. Knabb were thrown some distance from the machine and escaped unharmed but the three injured were pinned under the machine.

One of the year rods penetrated Anderson's skull and Knabb was crushed under one of the seats. The engine continued to revolve. As soon as Mr. Knabb could disentangle himself from the wreckage he put off the engine and then collapsed and has not rallied since.

All were conveyed to the Emergency hospital here, where Anderson died. Mr. Knabb and Mrs. Anderson have not regained consciousness and their condition is very serious. The infant escaped without a scratch as did Elizabeth Winger, who is a daughter of Fire Chief R. N. Winger. All members of the party are very prominent. Mr. Knabb is one of the proprietors of the Knabb barrel works, one of the largest factories of the kind in the country.

MUSIC HATH ITS' CHARMS

Prospectors' Knowledge of the Melodeon Wins Him Oil Lease.

Steubenville, O., June 29.—Oil extension is at its height here with several big producing fields near the city.

Nearly forty new oil companies have been organized on leased lands on both sides of the Ohio river. The rivalry to secure leases is sharp. Land owners are badgered by oil operators and attorneys seeking leases. One man secured a lease where twenty-two others had failed because of the music he produced on a 60 year old melodeon he saw in the house and played to the delight of the family.

ENFORCE THE AUTO SPEED-LIMIT LAW.

With the multiplicity of automobiles and their higher speed developments has come an increased recklessness in driving them. In the meantime the horse has gradually become accustomed to the rattle and clatter, the puffing and the honking of the devil-wagons. The result is that accidents from runaway horses are getting less frequent, while auto accidents are becoming more common and disastrous. The average person who doesn't own a motorcar will say that this is as it should be; but it is not. There shouldn't be any such accidents, if they can be avoided, and most of them can be avoided with the exercise of more care on the part of drivers.

The law fixes a reasonable and safe speed for automobiles, and it ought to be observed by autoists as well for their own as for others' safety; but it seems that the average occupant of a machine is subject to auto-intoxication. He or she wants to go faster and faster still, until all speed limits are lost sight of. The pace is momentarily dangerous. Automobiles are never safe from a sudden breakdown. At a speed of thirty or forty miles an hour, often exceeding the speed of a railway train, wrecks are imminent from causes within the machine as well as without, and a wreck under such circumstances is just as apt to cause injury or loss of life as a railway wreck.

Not only should auto-inobrates be protected against themselves, but the innocent public should also be protected. The speed-limit law must be enforced.

COMPANY D AND THE ARMY.

The plies of Captain Harry Dunn for more public interest in Company D and the Army is the timely expression of a wise citizen as well as a good captain.

It is not necessary to enter into a long disquisition to prove that Company D and the Army are good things for Connellsville to have. All sensible people appreciate their advantages to the town, and no sensible newspaper expects to convince foolish people.

The efficiency of the company is undeniably promoted by evidences of public interest in its work. For proof of this statement we do not have to depart from our own town. It is the history of Connellsville's companies. Those who were appalled by the public, who drew the attention of the people, who left the pride that comes with the cheers of the crowd, contributed to their ranks the best material in the community. The result was that we had a number of crack military organizations of whom we are ourselves intensely and justifiably proud. We may have another if we give it the proper encouragement.

The Armory is the largest and best assembly hall in the two towns, and it was expected on the part of those who contributed toward its cost that it would be a public building which would afford the people pleasure on occasions and to which they could always point with pride.

It is possible in this case to combine pleasure with encouragement, and we have no doubt the citizens will do both now that they have had the hint how to do them.

MINE DRAINAGE BELOW AND ABOVE.

The water question reverses itself below ground; on top, the man who diverts the water is liable to an action for damages, but below the operator who doesn't divert his drainage from his neighbor's pit is liable in damages. The difference is the difference between what we want and what we don't want.

Nobody above or below ground wants mine drainage and the time is approaching when its promiscuous discharge into the streams of the surface from which our communities are compelled to draw their domestic water supplies will be prohibited. The coal and coke operators are trying to avoid this as long as possible, because they think it will entail large expense; and so it will, but the expense will not come from them, but from the consumer.

The consumer always pays the tax.

The mysterious shooting at Homestead works ought to be thoroughly investigated by the District Attorney and the County Detective. If it was an accident of course it is understandable, especially for his carelessness; but if otherwise it was an attempt at murder that should be sternly punished. The man who would slay his wife for the sake of his wife's money is the last attribute of humanity and in this sense is worse than most beasts.

The weather man holds out hope of cooler weather. The news will be welcome to those who are compelled to stay on the job.

The able editorial writer of the Uniontown Herald is now writing in his regular column. He has tackled the baseball editor of The Courier in a bright young man aged seventeen and there is no doubt he will be able to hold his own with the Herald man.

Joe Bailey is too ill to attend the Democratic National Convention. He is at right in Texas, but he fears he may be all wrong in Denver.

The Denver situation resembles that at Chicago. There is more talk about the Vice Presidency than there is about the first place on the ticket.

The good effects of the reorganization of the railroads of the state department were noticeable today at the fire that has happened since the rejuvenation. The fire was a small one, but it might have been a disastrous conflagration.

Any purchases do not necessarily result that any one has been dishonest. Honest people sometimes make mistakes. And if you have ever suffered from auto trouble, you can eliminate mistakes; there must be a way to correct them. That is the reason the Auditors and other recently elected do not agree as to the way of doing things; it is not a reflection on the integrity of either of them. People are sincere and still be honest. And if a better way of doing things is suggested, especially in the public business, the suggestion is worthy of consideration.

Mexico is having its annual attack of incipient revolution.

The funeral of Grover Cleveland was as unostentatious as his life and was a fitting close to his career. He died in his quiet home, his simplicity unmarred his simplicity. The movement to erect a monument to his memory should be pressed to immediate action and early consummation.

Smoked glass was in demand yesterday.

The story of the recent financial crisis which swept the country is shown in the decreased national revenue but it is a relief to know that the situation is not as bad as had been anticipated. The Department of War estimates that the excess of expenditures over receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, will be about $10,000,000. The disbursements had a decided tendency to materially improve the situation.

The blessings of the Klondyke pioner may come to him out of the future, but he had better always keep his eye peeled for something more strenuous and less inviting in the present.

The village of Mapleton, over in Greene county, is going to have a screaming time on the Glorious Fourth. It is to be a record breaking day in the history of the independence. Due to Justice Stephen Leslie Moxtrout, the Mapleton boy who wears the criminal, will be the big orator of the occasion. All Greene county roads will lead to Mapleton on the Fourth.

The eclipse of the sun was only partially the eclipse of Jim Kent yesterday. The eclipse of Bill Bryant this fall will be complete.

The National Guardsmen are preparing for the annual encampment. The highest efficiency will not be to those who put this duty off till a couple of weeks before encampment or inspection. Actual practice is the price of success.

There is no backward step in industrial resumption. So long as the situation continues, there should be no complaints about its slowness.

as much science as Darist Green's ray machine.

Somerset county is trying hard to arrest the flood of murder that has enveloped her in conviction and punishing the criminal, but thus far without the most signal success.

The Report of the County Auditors.

The able editorial writer of the Uniontown Standard sets forth much information that is interesting and valuable to the county. It is the right of the people to know how much they have paid and how it has been expended. The Auditors have performed an important service in publishing a complete and comprehensive report of the county's business.

The amount of men who handled money the last year is not known, but there were approximately 1,000 persons among them the purpose of the Venetian bridge. The Auditors make some suggestions as to the manner of doing things, but the business of the county departments, which is the best, is not agreed upon.

The Auditors and other recently elected do not agree as to the way of doing things; it is not a reflection on the integrity of either of them. People are sincere and still be honest. And if a better way of doing things is suggested, especially in the public business, the suggestion is worthy of consideration.

SCOTTDALE, June 29.—The Board of Education of East Huntingdon township spent most of Saturday at a meeting at Alverton when they employed the 28 teachers for the coming term of school, the opening date of which has not yet been set. In the selection of teachers there were quite a number of changes made in station-ing the instructors. In the lower end of the township, that part immediately surrounding Scottdale, in which President George W. Baker and Secretary W. I. Cottam live, there were no men teachers appointed. Few men applied for any of the schools, and H. R. Shupe, who taught last year at the White's, was given the Hawkeye school and Robert and Grover Feller will attend school this year. The following is the roster of teachers:
Township Principal, W. J. Latimer;
Alverton High School, the township's High School, P. M. Lite and Miss Andreas; Alverton, No. 1, Viola Sheekley; No. 2, Barbara Shire; No.
3, Olga Leasure; No. 4, Minnie B. Love;
No. 5, Jonnie Fitzgerald; Ruthford;
No. 1, Harriet Eby; No. 2, Bertha Buttermore; No. 32, Josephine Da-nicker; No. 4, E. G. Wagner; Turn-

The wages paid in East Huntingdon range from $40 to $90 per month. In the letting of the contract for the painting of the Buffaloe school building of four rooms, exterior and interior, the contract was let to Ben Stithman of Scottdale. The board approved the specifications offered by Secretary Cottam for the building of the three new school houses in the district. The entire board was present at the meeting, as follows: President George W. Baker, Secretary W. I. Cottam, J. W. Bell, J. H. Hayes, H. Tarr and G. W. Lawrence.

Failed to Appear.
Joseph Smalankinnow, of Smedlow-town, who was arrested by Constable T. J. Gillepie on the charge of maintaining a nuisance by having a gasoline heap near his house and overshadowed by smoke glass were to be seen on every street. It was a good excuse to stay away from church and some used it. The Eclipse was very plain to all through the medium of darkened glass. One entrepreneur, but unscrupulous scientist was noted to be peering carefully around the corner of a house, thus expecting to fool the sun and get a square look at it with his naked eye. He risked one eye and then gave up the job in disgust, going to borrow a slice of smoked glass from some more provident neighbor. Then he looked until his eyes were all the smoke of the glass and he had a scowl of sunshine.

English Sparrows' Apartments.
A broken bird egg lying on the sidewalk in front of John Evans' drug store Sunday morning caused an observer to look upward to discover the nest from which the egg must have fallen. The walls of the Loucks' hardware building and that in which Evans' store is located do not join, but leaves a space of perhaps four feet. In that space, secure between the two big buildings, English sparrows have taken up their residence, and one can see their bedclothing sticking out at the edges.

Kern Died From Heart Trouble.
Clark Edwards and George Kern, neophytes of Joseph R. Kern, who was found dead in a small stream near the home of George Hoover, between White's postoffice and Stahlstown, attended the funeral at Springfield on Friday. They say that the deceased undoubtedly came to his death from the heart trouble that he had been known to have been suffering with for some time, and that there was nothing to indicate suicide or foul play, as was at first reported. They went up over the Indian Creek Valley railroad and Mr. Edwards, who is a lover of nature, a hunter and fisherman, said Saturday evening that the scenery along the route is well worth the trip. A great many camping parties are going up through that section now seeking locations for camps, it being an easy place to camp, with plenty of sport along the middle Fork creek. Both men are Indians and one goes from Scottdale by street car to catch the 8:45 B. & O. train from Indian Creek and then go up from there, returning from Rodgers in the evening at 4:30 to catch the 8:22 train from Indian Creek.

Circus Coming to Town.

Scottdale is to have a big show, the Howe London Shows, which will be here Wednesday, July 1, and which will pitch its tents at the Everson show grounds. There will be a parade in the morning, leaving the grounds at 10 o'clock and going through town.
This is the first show of the season and the kids have been industriously saving pennies for the past month.
The presence of the circus and the Fourth of July in such close proximity is a terribly wearisome thing on their nerves and has probably cut down the fire cracker purchases at this time. However, the circus comes first and the wise kid will spend his money for it, trusting to Providence to get the coin for the Fourth of July.

A lively Saturday Night.
Religion, Socialism and trade held the boards with speakers extolling the merits of each on the streets Saturday night. Starting opposite the Pennsylvania railroad lot on Pittsburg street a fairly loudly bawled
the virtues of plated knives, forks, spoons, razors and collar buttons,
while up in front of Grazer & Hurst's store Rev. J. A. Eby of Connellsville conducted the Saturday evening street meeting. Farther up, in front of Forster & Stoner's, for two hours and a half M. W. Wilkins of Culbertson spoke on the merits of the Socialist party.
He was an excellent speaker and held the crowd's attention closely, whether or not they believed the doctrine he enunciated. The nickelodeons also assumed the usual amount of wealth inseparable with a Saturday night's business. It was pay day at the mills and some money was floating about, so that everybody was more or less benefited. The order was of a kind that was pleasant to everybody.
The bill concludes with a position that the defendant pump the water flooded with water from Hemminger's mine and a large amount of valuable coal cannot be mined.

in Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, June 29.—Within a month a government experimental station to ascertain some method by which loss of life in the coal mines may be eliminated or reduced to a arsenal grounds in this city. At this station tests of the various dynamics coal dust.

Before the National Board.
Outfielder James Clark, who is reported to have signed with Shreveport, had already accepted a contract with Scottdale and he has now reported to Manager Pat Sweeney at Fairmont last Wednesday. Scottdale has not told Shreveport that they must give up Clark or the master will take action before the National Association. Manager Sweeney has signed Outfielder King of Akron of the O. & P. League, and he will be here soon.

Stolen Horse Recovered.
John Stoltz, who had his horse and buggy taken from where it was hitched on Chestnut street between Market and Pittsburg, on Friday night, recovered his horse after a search that night and Saturday, near Alverton.
There a young man who read a description of the horse in the Court identified it and said word to Elcker & Craft at Scottdale and they communicated with Mr. Rist, who lives over towards Pennsville. There have been several horses taken in this manner from Scottdale and someone will be jerked up for horse stealing one of these times, when they fall to make an adequate fast.

is believed that with some such ap-

with the mine filled with poisonous vapors, it is certain death to enter the mine for some time after the explosion.

BRYAN MEN REJOICE.

Selection of Bell for Temporary Chairman Considered an Easy Victory.

THINK NEBRASKAN CONTROLS

Discussion of Vice Presidential Possibilities Still Includes the Names of Johnson and Gray—Douglas, Chanler and McNeill Are Mentioned.

Denver, Col., June 29.—This city has taken its last political slumber for at least a fortnight to come. Many Democratic politicians of note have already arrived and by the time they are all on the ground the advance guard of the state delegations will be here or on their way and there will be an ever increasing activity until the red fire has flickered out and the curtain has rung down on the final scenes of the Democratic national convention.

The out-and-out Bryan men are very much pleased over the easy manner in which Theodore A. Bell of California was named for temporary chairman. There were reports before Mr. Bell had been selected that a fight was to be made on him by Thomas Taggart, chairman of the national committee, and Roger C. Sullivan the national committeeman from Illinois, but the promised struggle did not materialize and the visitors of Mr. Bryan's according Mr. Bell were carried out without a sign of alarm. This fact was taken by the Bryan men to mean that all opposition to the wishes of their leader had disappeared or at least will be only of comparatively slight influence in the convention. They are now counting confidently upon the selection of Henry D. Clayton of Alabama for permanent chairman, claiming that this will be brought about as easily as was that of Mr. Bell.

ROGER C. SULLIVAN

Bailey Unable to Attend
No particular opposition has been made to Mr. Clayton and there are no present signs of any fight against him. Other names have been mentioned but none from the south save that of Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas and it seems to be practically certain that he will not be able to attend the convention because of ill health. It is known that Mr. Bryan desires a permanent chairman from the south and the Bryan men believe that with Senator Bailey eliminated there will be no other than Clayton considered.

Alleged Joke With Ambulance Perpetrated on Bridal Pair

Baltimore, Pa., June 29.—To step from Hymen's altar and find two undertakers awaiting them with ambulances is the experience of Mr. and Mrs. D. Stitt here. While the Rev. J. W. Pontius was performing the marriage ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Klingensmith parents of the bride, some jokers called two undertakers and ordered two ambulances to the residence on the spot. The quick. The undeterred men drove at breakneck speed to the church arriving about the same time and awaiting who would remove the dead and dying. Instead they were introduced to a blushing bride and a nervous groom. An effort to induce the pair to take an ambulance ride failed. The jokers were asked to pay for the ambulance service.

FAITHFUL TO THE END

Little Dog Stands Guard at Bedside of Dead Mistress
Cumberland, Md., June 29.—Mrs. Priscilla Brown, widow of John Brown, a negro for many years a trusted servant of the late General Lloyd, died this morning. She leaves considerable property but is as yet unknown to relatives. A little dog given her by Governor Lowndes, on guard at the bed she had to be passed before the undertaker could take charge of the body.

Offers Strange Excuse
Niles, O., June 29.—Charged with extorting Frank Pendleton, a foreman on the Vienna avenue sewer, was called before the board of public works and Mayor John S. Taylor. Pendleton was said to have received $1 from Hungarians or promises of work on the sewer. When questioned Pendleton said he did not solicit the money but when he went to the foreigners' homes they put the money in his pocket. President Sheehan of the board had Pendleton charged to pay Hungarians demand their dollars which Pendleton paid. He was then released.

Plenty of Candidates
The prospects are there will be no dearth of candidates for the vice presidential nomination. Some of the names now heard are those of men who have said they do not desire and will not take second place. They will have warm friends in the convention nevertheless who are likely to make friends for them if Mr. Bryan should be named and should fail to voice his preference for a running mate. Among these are Governor Johnson of Minnesota and Judge George Gray of Delaware both of whom will figure in the ballot for the presidential nomination. That both of these men would prefer not to be thought of in connection with the vice presidency and might go so far as to positively decline in advance to qualify if nominated apparently has failed to eliminate them from the list of possibilities.

The names of five New York men are looming up today in the pre-convention gossip over the vice presidential situation. These are Morgan J. O'Brien, former chief justice of the New York supreme court; Herman L. Metz, city controller of Brooklyn, former representative Charles A. Towne, Lewis S. Chuber, lieutenant governor of New York and Representative Francis Burton Harrison. The two latter are young men and have been successful in politics. Mr. Towne formerly of Minnesota has made a reputation in the past and west as a strong campaigner. Judge Alton B. Parker is an intimate friend of Judge Alton B. Parker who made the race for the presidency the Democratic ticket four years ago. It is being argued in favor of Judge O'Brien that he could bring eastern Democrats into the Bryan camp.

Douglas Is Considered
The same claim is being made in behalf of former Governor William L. Douglas of Massachusetts as for Judge O'Brien. Mr. Douglas is a manufacturer who enjoys the confidence of business men in the east. Another eastern candidate is Archibald McNeill of Bridgeport, Conn., who comes also from the ranks of business.

Since Secretary Taft nor his brother care to discuss for publication the question of the selection of a national chairman except in the most general terms no decision has yet been reached and it is still definitely by the secretary that none will be announced until after he has conferred further with the sub-committee of the Republican national committee on the 8th July Conference at Hot Springs.

It is very probable—indeed there is almost a certainty—that the sub committee in charge with Secretary Taft and Representative James S. Sherman candidate for the vice presidency which was fixed for July 8 in Washington will be held at Hot Springs, Va., where the secretary expects to spend the greater part of the summer.

I have not determined the matter definitely, said Secretary Taft today, "but my inclination now is to have the conference at the Hot Springs." Mr. Taft and I hope to leave Washington for Hot Springs next Friday. In that event I shall send notice to the members of the sub committee to meet me there. That location will be just as convenient for them as is Washington and it will be more convenient for me.

The resort selected by Secretary Taft and Mrs. Taft for their summer outing is in the very heart of the Virginia mountains on a spur of the Blue Ridge mountains. Accommodations have been arranged at the famous resort hotel. There the secretary, Mrs. Taft and their son Master Charles will be quartered and surrounded with all possible comforts and conveniences. Their daughter and Helen will join them after a visit to some friends in the south. Their son Robert will spend most of the summer in the north.

To Use Presidential Suite
At the Homestead the presidential suite once occupied by President and Mrs. McKinley is being placed in readiness for the Republican standard bearer and his family. It facilities several spacious rooms, beautifully decorated and handsomely furnished. The apartments are located in the rear of the hotel and command a fine view of the golf links and of the magnificent Valley Spur valley and the slopes. Convenient to the sun terraces are a telephone offce and long distance telephone connection.

While in Hot Springs Secretary Taft expects that his re-election will come in time to ride driving and playing golf. One of his saddle horses will be sent to Hot Springs and General Clarence H. Edward, who is devoting himself particularly to Mr. Taft's physical well-being, is making arrangements for another fine saddle animal. I expect to play golf a good deal said the secretary. I am very fond of the sport and it always puts me in excellent condition.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., June 29.—Colonel William I. Tucker, assistant pay master in the United States army, underwent a special operation here. Col. Tucker who is a very heavy man was relieved of about 80 pounds weight by the operation which the doctors say was to equalize the portal circulation through the liver. His condition is reported as favorable. Col. Tucker is a son-in-law of the late Gen. John A. Logan.

TAFT TAKING A REST

Leaves for Hot Springs, Va., Friday, Where He Will Meet His Advisers.

CHAIRMAN NOT YET SELECTED

Secretary Intimates That Nothing Will Be Done in That Respect Until He Meets With National Committeemen at Hot Springs Conference.

Washington, June 29.—Secretary William Howard Taft passed the second and Sunday after his nomination for the presidency quietly in his K street home. He was much refreshed after a comfortable and restful night's sleep—practically the first prolonged and adequate rest he has had since his nomination. His brother Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati arrived in Washington and joined the ex-secretary on the 26th. They spent the day and evening together. The coming at this time of Charles P. Taft was said to be devoid of special significance but it is known that he is here to confer with the secretary respecting his personal and political plans.

Neither Secretary Taft nor his brother care to discuss for publication the question of the selection of a national chairman except in the most general terms no decision has yet been reached and it is still definitely by the secretary that none will be announced until after he has conferred further with the sub committee of the Republican national committee on the 8th July Conference at Hot Springs.

The Port of Missing Men.

By Meredith Nicholson.
Author of "The House of a Thousand Candles."

Copyright, 1907, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company.

"How near is Judge Clalborne's place?" he asked.
The man pointed. It was the next house on the righthand side, and Armitage smiled to himself and strolled on.

He looked down in a moment upon a pretty estate distinguished by its formal garden, but with the broad acres of a practical farm stretching far out into the valley. The lawn terraces were green, broken only by plots of spring flowers. The walks were walled in box and privet. The house, of the pillared colonial type, crowned a series of terraces. A long pergola, with pillars topped by red urns, curved gradually through the garden toward the mansion. Armitage followed a side road along the brick partition wall and contemplated the inner landscape. The sharp snap of a gardener's shears far up the slope was the only sound that reached him. It was a charming place, and he yielded

He dropped over the wall and strolled away to a temptation to explore it. He dropped over the wall and strolled away through the garden, the smell of warm earth, moist from the day's light showers, and the faint odor of green things growing, sweet in his nostrils. He walked to the far end of the pergola, sat down on a wooden bench and gave himself up to reverie. He had been denounced as an impostor. He was on Clalborne's soil, and the situation required thought.

It was while he thus pondered his affairs that Shirley, walking over the soft lawn from a neighboring estate, came suddenly upon him.

Her head went up with surprise and—she was sure—with disdain. She stopped abruptly as he jumped to his feet.

"I am caught—in flagrante delicto! I can only plead guilty and pray for mercy."

"They said—they said you had gone to Mexico!" said Shirley questioningly.

"Plague take the newspapers! How dare they so misrepresent me!" he laughed.

"Yes, I read those newspaper articles with a good deal of interest. And my brother—"

"Yes; your brother—he is the best fellow in the world!"

She mused, but a smile of real mirth now played over her face and lighted her eyes.

"Those are generous words, Mr. Armitage. My brother warned me against you in quite unequivocal language. He told me about your matchbox!"

"Oh, the cigarette case!" and he held it up. "It's really mine, and I'm going Shirley came suddenly upon him, to keep it. It was very damaging evidence. It would argue strongly against me in any court of law."

"Yes; I believe that is true." And she looked at the trinket with frank interest.

"But I particularly do not wish to have to meet that charge in any court of law, Miss Clalborne."

She met his gaze very steadily, and her eyes were grave. Then she asked in much the same tone that she would have used if they had been very old friends, and he had excused himself for not being that day or for not going upon a hunt or to the theater:

"Why?"
Because I have a pledge to keep and a work to do, and if I were forced to defend myself from the charge of being the false Baron von Kassel every thing would be spoiled. You see, unfortunately—most unfortunately—I am not quite without responsibilities, and I have come down into the mountains, where I hope not to be shot and tossed over precipice until I have had time to watch certain people and certain events for little while. I tried to tell Captain Clalborne, but I saw that my story did not impress him. And now I have said the same thing to you!"

He waited, gravely watching her, hat in hand.

"And I have stood here and listened to you and done exactly what Captain Clalborne would not wish me to do under any circumstances," said Shirley.

"You are infinitely kind and generous."

"I should say not," said Shirley unresponsively. "I am quite as sure that he was not the fair's baron as I am that you were not."

Armitage laughed.

"That is a little poated."

"Then I will tell you—what I have not told any one else—that I know very well that you are not the person who appeared at Bay Harbor three years ago and palmed himself off as the Baron von Kassel."

"I know it—yes, we are quite sure of it!"

"Certainly. I saw that person—at Bay Harbor. I had gone up from New York for a week—I was even at a ro where he was quite the lion, and am sure you are not the same person each other. It would positively grieve me to see him, in which she placed the matter of his identity on a purely price and unscrupulous plane, gave him a new impression of her character. "But Captain Clalborne!"

He ceased suddenly and she started, pausing at the gate, and she turned away but still paused abruptly.

"Oh, this won't do at all! I can't be seen with you, even in the shadow of my own house. I must trouble you to take me home again," and she indicated the side gate,

"You are a good girl," he said.

"And of course he is a capital witness. There is no doubt of Clalborne's entire credibility," declared Armitage, a little sharply.

"I should say not," said Shirley unresponsibly. "I am quite as sure that he was not the fair's baron as I am that you were not."

Armitage laughed.

"It is at Fort Myers, of course. At about this hour they are having dress parade, and he is thoroughly occupied."

"But—there is M. Chauvenet. He has nothing to do but amuse himself."

They had reached the veranda steps, and she ran to the top and turned for a moment to look at him. He still clutched his hat and crop in one hand and had dropped the other into the side pocket of his coat. He was wholly at ease, and the wind ruffled his hair and gave him a boyish look that Shirley liked. But she had no wish to be round with him, and she instantly nodded his dismissal and half turned away to go into the house, when he detained her for a moment.

He was not long ago—

He lost the profile and gained her face, as he liked it best, though her hood was lifted a little high in resentment against her own yielding curiosity.

He was speaking rapidly, and the slight hint of some other tongue than his usually fluent English arrested her ear now, as it had at other times.

"So he said," he said, thinking little of what he said, but delighting in the picture she made of tall planks of the veranda framing her against the white wall above the house and the architrave high above speaking, as he thought, for the amplitude, the breadth of her nature.

Her green cloth gown afforded the happiest possible contrast with the white background, and her hat—for a gown, let us remember, may express the woman who wears it—her hat, Armitage was aware, was a trifle of black velvet cincted up at one side with snowy plumes.

Her annoyance at finding herself obliged to listen to him was masked by the imperceptible gathering of her brows. It was all the manner of an instant. His heart beat fast in his joy at the sight of her, and the tongue that years of practice had skilled in speech and evasion was possessed by a reckless spirit.

She nodded carelessly, but said nothing, waiting for him to go on.

"I ut when I wait for people they always come—even in a strange person," he added dairily. "Now, in most immediately M. Jules Chauvenet arrived at his own home. It is inevitable, it is always sure to be my fate," he concluded mournfully.

He bowed low, adjusted the shabby hat to his head with the last bit of a flourish and strode away through the garden by a broad walk that led to the front gate.

He would have been interested to know that when he was out of sight Shirley walked to the veranda rail and bent forward, listening to his steps on the gravel, after the hedge and shrubbery had hidden him. And she stood thus until the faint click of the gate told her that he had gone.

She did not know that as the gate closed upon him he met Chauvenet face to face.

COKERS TAKING BRACE WIN TWO GAMES FROM SCOTTDALE.

After their poor showing against Uniontown on Friday the Cokers, with two of their old men back in the game, Lawton and Francis, played rings around the tall end Scottdale on Saturday afternoon, easily winning two games in a double header, the first 7-3 and the last one dousing them in the lime barrel to the tune of 7-0. A large crowd from both towns, estimated at about 1,000, witnessed the slaughter, showing conclusively that the Cokers are drawing much larger crowds than any other town in the league. Both Lawton and Francis, the old men, played star games, Lawton having five hits in seven times up, including two three-baggers. "Chip" Francis drove two men in the first engagement with a three-bagger and cleared the bases in the second game with a home run to right center. Ellam, as usual, played a single game at short, his one error being a slow ball.

Gladfader was out first in place of Tiffany, who was scheduled to appear, and played a star game. All of the Cokers were in the game up to their necks and played the game in pennant winning manner. Cannon allowed the Millers seven hits in the first game but kept them well scattered. Scottdale reached third but twice in the second game.

First Game.

Humphries started off like a winner but the Cokers got wise to him in the third round when they slammed out five hits for six runs. Lawton lead off with a pretty single and Cannon laid down a perfect bunt which Humphries decided would roll foul, but guessed wrong. Jacobson filled the cushions by going down on a rib roaster. Montgomery then put in a timely hit over third on which Lawton scored. Ellam sent one down to Klaybor, who caught Cannon at the plate. Birmingham then contributed a single to left, which scored Montgomery and sent Ellam to third. Price filed the bases and after a consultation Humphries decided to stay in the game, but on the first half pitch to him, Francis straightened it out for a pretty three-bagger, scoring everybody on the circuit. Sweeney then took Humphries' place and retired the side. Gladfader flew out to Wuster and Francis was caught at the plate on the play.

Carroll let down in the sixth and the Millers piled on two more on the plate. Sweeney got one on the nose for two bags but was caught between third and home when Sweeney hit to Ellam. Ferguson received a complimentary ticket, and both men moved up a peg when O'Connor went out to Gladfader, unassisted. James sent a double to left, scoring both men. Conavery lead off with a three-sacker in the next round but died there. In the eighth O'Connor lead off with a single, stole second and scored on James' single.

The Cokers showed one more man across the pan in the eighth. With two down Francis was safe on Ferguson's error. Conavery dropped Klaybor's perfect throw and "Chip" scored when Lawton drove a single over short. The score:
